

On 24 February, Zhou Jian, Deputy Director of the Provincial Industry and Information Department, and a number of government officials visited the Xunyang plant.

They visited the production line, control centre, waste heat power plant and other facilities; and were introduced to the production, management, safety, environment protection, comprehensive resource utilization, and public welfare that the company had carried out since the trial production last year.

The officials were positive about the achievements that the company has made since 2009 and showed that they would support the company to move forward and help solve any problems the company may encounter.
