

Regional cement and concrete industry in Xinjiang will benefit from the accelerated urbanization

Recently, it's noted from Ministry of Housing and Urban-Rural Development of Xinjiang that "Xinjiang Urban System Planning (2012-2030)" (hereinafter referred to as "Planning") was approved by the Party Committee and now in the stage for comments again. With the recent promotion to new urbanization strategy by central authorities, the Planning approval is expected to be accelerated. According to the Planning, Xinjiang urbanization will speed up greatly over the next eight years.

The target for Xinjiang urbanization development in the Planning is that Xinjiang urban population will account for 58% of the total population by 2020 and 66% to 68% by 2030, and the urbanization quality is to be improved constantly.

As a leading cement enterprise in Xinjiang, Sinoma-Tianshan considers the urbanization acceleration a contribution to the rapid consumption of new cement capacities in Xinjiang and will help to restore the confidence of cement enterprises as well as stabilize the cement price of next year.

(Source: Digital Cement)